

CCASA Volunteer Appreciation

Erin Fingler started her volunteer journey with CCASA back in November of 2004 where she supported CCASA through volunteering on our support and information line. After a small hiatus where she took some time to focus on other areas of her life, she has since returned to our volunteer team rejoining us in February of 2013 where Erin has eagerly and passionately embraced the role of supporting our phone lines once again.

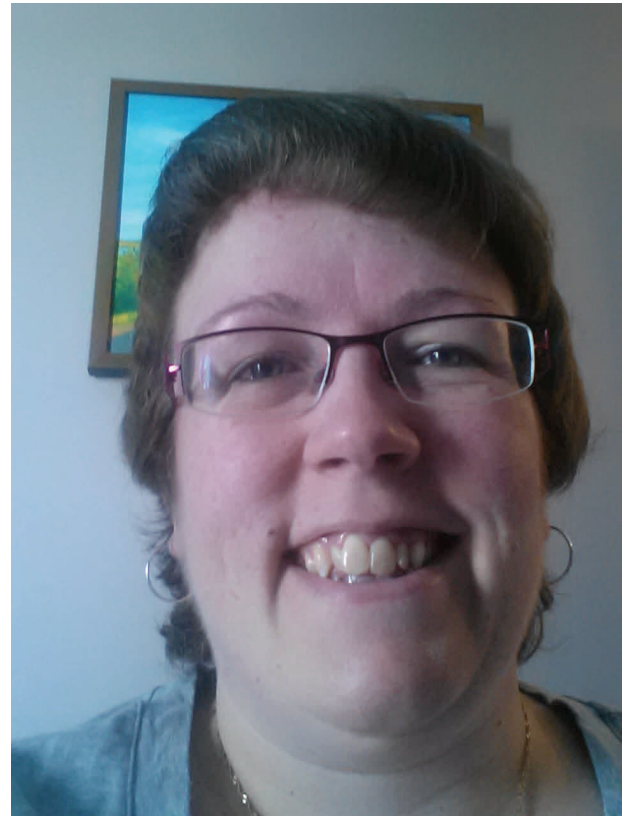

Erin is a huge asset to our volunteer team and to CCASA as a whole. Erin is dedicated to supporting individuals in our community through her commitment to our organization and in her willingness to help out beyond her scheduled shifts to cover for other volunteers should they not be able to fill their own. It is this kind of team mentality that keeps our support and information line functional and accessible for the Calgary community.

When asked what has motivated her continuous commitment to the agency, Erin responded, "There are so many volunteer possibilities with CCASA and so many ways to help. I think the fact that there are so many people willing to dedicate their time to such a worthy cause is very inspiring."

"Every time I answer a call, I am inspired. I'm honoured that people trust CCASA and trust me enough to share with me and let me help them through some very difficult times in their lives."

CCASA would like to thank Erin for her continued support of our organization and for her dedication to helping individuals in our communities.

Thank you!

Erin is actively involved in other amazing initiatives and is an avid supporter of the Relay for Life fundraiser - a 12-hour overnight fundraising event focused on bringing communities together to celebrate life and fight cancer. If that isn't inspiring enough, it should be noted that two out of three years for additional fundraising support, Erin has shaved her head for this event.
